

Students Making a Difference

GPSA
for Health

www.gpsa.org

Ed Moriarty

MIT Edgerton Center

Ed Moriarty has been with the MIT Edgerton Center in Boston, MA since 2000. He is the instructor for 6.070/SP.705, Intro to Electronics, and is involved in the high school levels of our K-12 Outreach program. Ed also works with as staff liaison to the MIT Edgerton Center student groups.

Dr. Robert Allen Malkin

Global Public Service Academies

Dr. Robert Malkin is the director of Duke University- Engineering World Health and a Professor of the Practice of Biomedical Engineering at Duke University in Durham, North Carolina. Dr. Malkin is the Director of the Global Public Service Academies. Previously, Dr. Malkin was the Herbert Herff Professor of Biomedical Engineering at The Joint Biomedical Program at the University of Memphis in Memphis, Tennessee and The University of Tennessee. Before moving to Tennessee, Dr. Malkin was a professor of Electrical Engineering at The City College of New York and a member of the graduate faculty at The City University of New York and a research associate at Columbia University. Dr. Malkin received his MS and PhD in Electrical Engineering from Duke University in 1991 and 1993, respectively. Prior to attending graduate school, Dr. Malkin taught English in Thailand, worked at EM Microelectronics in Switzerland designing integrated circuits, worked for Cordis Corporation designing pacemakers and worked for Sarns Incorporated designing heart lung machines. Dr Malkin received the BS degree in Electrical Engineering from The University of Michigan in 1984. Dr. Malkin is a Fellow of the American Institute for Medical and Biological Engineering. Dr. Malkin serves as an expert advisor to the World Health Organization's Advisory Group on Healthcare Technology, Advisory Group on Innovative Technologies and serves on the World Health Organization's subcommittee on medical equipment donations.

Tina Ellis, MSN, RN, CTN

Florida Gulf Coast University

Tina A. Ellis MS, RN, CTN joined FGCU as an instructor in the School of Nursing in 2001. Ms Ellis received the BS in Nursing from Chico State University, Chico, California, the MS in Cross Cultural Nursing/International Health from the University of California, San Francisco, California and achieved certification in Transcultural Nursing (CTN) through the international organization Transcultural Nursing Society. Ms Ellis is practice instructor for Foundations in Nursing and Public Health & Community Nursing. In addition, she has taught Transcultural Nursing, Spanish for Health Care Professionals, and International Nursing: Guatemala. Ms Ellis is a member of the Council for International Initiatives and Services at FGCU and promotes careers in nursing and health professions through outreach to area high schools affiliated with HOSA.

Note: Not all faculty participate in all trips. Check with your coordinator if you are interested in any particular faculty member.